‘Tis the Season!

It's holiday time with all the joys and stresses that go with it. We all want that perfect holiday celebration but it is important to remember what it is that makes that holiday just right. Time honoured traditions, perfect presents, and fantastic food all help to make the holidays a time to remember but are they really that important if you are too tired to enjoy them?

We have our own traditions here at the library and we are so happy to bring them back this year. Our traditions all have to do with making the holidays fun and easy for you. We actually bring in extra Christmas and winter holiday books this time of year so look for the displays. We participate in and support community events like the Santa Parade. Let's not forget our biggest event of the year—Breakfast with Santa! It's a fun event where kids who are maybe not so sure about talking to the big guy have a chance to check him out before having a visit.

Whatever it is that makes your holiday perfect, remember to take the time to enjoy it. Merry Christmas from the staff at the Peace River Library!

In the Art Gallery—December 15 to January 18th.—TREX : Careful Space, Gentle Matters

Careful Space, Gentle Matters highlights the work of two Alberta-based artists who center and affirm their lived experiences of disability and chronic illness. Bodies all have wonderfully different and complex capacities. However, many of our daily spaces continue to be designed and programmed as if all bodies are the same. In response to this lack of consideration, many who live with disability and chronic illness experience feelings of grief, trauma, frustration and anger. The artists in Careful Space, Gentle Matters, explore these complex feelings in addition to celebrating the important forms of care, rest, and joy that they gently make with themselves, and with community.
