MAY 2021

Here We Go Again

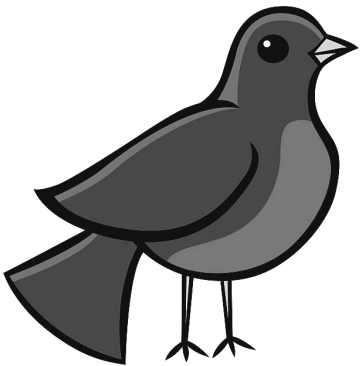

On April 6th the provincial government announced that libraries were to close again by midnight. So here we are back a Step One. Fear not! We know just what to do now! Grab & Go is simple and easy to use. Requests can be made via TRACpac or by phone or email. Interlibrary loan items are still available. Virtual programs and home kits are being offered. A plethora of e-resources can be found on our website!

Don't have a library card or need a renewal? Not a problem. A contactless system is now in place to take payment for memberships, fines, and lost or damaged items. Just call the library and staff will be happy to walk you through the process.

Unfortunately, at this time we cannot offer access to public computers or office services (eg, printing, copying, scanning.) If you are in need of these services, you can still call the library and we will do our best to point you to places that can help you.

Even though you can't enter the building, we still have much to offer.

Grab & Go Service FAQ

When can I pick up my books?

When you receive an automated notification that your items are ready for pick up, you should call the library and make an appointment for any time during regular library hours.

How do I get my books if you won't open the door?

Please follow Covid-19 protocols when you come to the library door. Your items will be on a table outside the library's front door. A staff member will be available to watch your books and check your ID through the glass door.

Why do you need to check my ID? Don't you know me?

Many of our circulation staff are familiar with our regular patrons. However, the person at the front door may be new or from another department. To protect you and make sure your items don't go home with the wrong person, we ask that you present your library card or a piece of ID so we can be sure.

What if I'm not the person picking up my books?

We just ask that you let us know who will be picking up your items if it isn't you. Then we know what name to look for on their ID.

Do I have to return my books together in the bag I received them in?

We ask that you return your items (DVDs and audiobooks too for now) through the exterior bookdrop. Please do NOT put them in a bag at all to return them. Items are less likely to be damaged if they are put through the book drop individually. You may leave a few items in a Pick-a-pack bag when it is returned as long as it fits smoothly through the bookdrop.

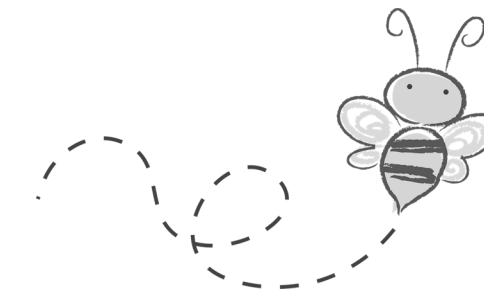

I returned my books, why did I get an overdue notice?

Returned items will not be checked in for a minimum of 7 days. You will not be charged late fees or items due during the quarantine period.

I need to renew my library card (or I would like to get a library card). How do I do that without coming into the library?

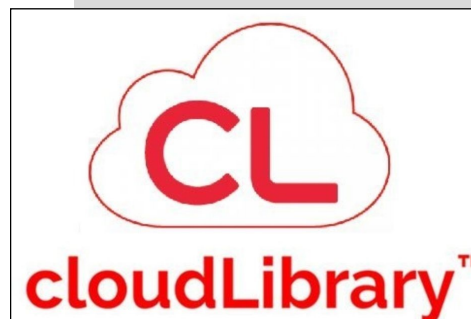

Just call the library. Circulation staff will be happy to renew or create a library membership for you. Contactless payment options are now available. You will be asked to present your photo ID through the glass door when you come to your next Grab & Go appointment.

Friends of the Library

We are in danger of losing our Friends of the Library if we don't find new members!

Peace River Municipal Library depends on it's FRIENDS!
The Friends of the Library meet only four times a year. Fundraising projects can be as simple as sending out a few letters to as creative as you want to go! These funds provide things like audiovisual equipment for our meeting room and programs, toys and learning supplies for Story Time and other children's programs, and even our new phone system so that we can communicate with you effectively!

We NEED more Friends!

The Friends of the Library is a group people dedicated to helping our library be the best it can be. They meet three to four times per year to discuss and plan ways to raise funds for items not covered in our annual budget like furnishings, audiovisual equipment, and programs equipment. Our Friends play a vital part in helping us to serve our community.

If interested, you can attend the Annual General Meeting on May 5th at 5:30pm with no commitment to join. Sit in, check it out, and see if you are our latest BFF! Call or email the library for the Zoom link.
